WELCOME TO

NMC2019

Over the Horizon Expanding the Dispute Resolution Landscape

The National Mediation Conference is convening in Canberra in 2019, for only the second time in its 27-year history.

Taking the opportunity in 2019 to celebrate the conference's overdue 25th anniversary, Australia's most respected and experienced mediators, and dispute resolution practitioners, will gather to continue to develop and enhance the current state of mediation practice, research, and education, as well as to gain deeper insights into predicted future developments in the wide area of dispute resolution. In 2019, the conference will focus in particular on rigour in research and the importance of a credible evidence base to inform the future of mediation and other forms/types of dispute resolution.

Over the past decade, the concept of mediation has broadened considerably to include many mediation-based processes and approaches – including some that are not focused on disputes or conflict. At NMC 2019, we are welcoming this expanded approach, and anticipating even more diversification in the practice of dispute resolution. This expectation is reflected in the conference title: Over the Horizon – Expanding the Dispute Resolution landscape.

Dispute resolution processes that will figure prominently in the conference include: mediation, conciliation, restorative justice, facilitation, online processes, family dispute resolution, elder mediation, court-connected processes, and innovative approaches being applied in indigenous and other non-mainstream communities, such as deep democracy and justice reinvestment. The conference will include a mix of presentation forums (e.g. pre-conference skills development workshops, interactive expert panel discussions, breakfast speakers, roundtable discussions, and traditional presentations).

The National Mediation Conference has a strong reputation as the premier venue for the presentation of ground-breaking research in the dispute resolution area, as well as for an opportunity to canvass innovative ideas aimed at strengthening the broad acceptance of effective dispute resolution in Australia. First convened in 1992, it has since become Australia's landmark biennial conference for mediation specifically, and dispute resolution more broadly. Enjoying an international reputation, the conference remains a voluntary organisation, overseen by practicing mediators and academics who are dedicated to promoting and improving the practice of mediation and dispute resolution.

High profile international and national speakers are already confirmed as attending. The conference is a unique opportunity for industry networking and for significant exposure to Australia's leading mediation and dispute resolution professionals and thought leaders, as well as to the industry's top academic researchers.

We invite you to become part of our landmark event in Canberra in April 2019, and to build longer-term collaborations with us, through any of a range of opportunities all of which are outlined in this document.

NATIONAL MEDIATION CONFERENCE

Organisational Structure

The National Mediation Conference Ltd (NMC Ltd) is a not-for-profit body operating with a Board of Directors, and, for 2019, with a separate Conference Design Committee. Professor Laurence Boule AO is the Chairman of the Board of Directors. The Board operates according to the constitution of NMC Ltd and is responsible for overseeing the convening of biennial Conferences, as well as general promotion of mediation and ADR. The Board of Directors is currently conducting a full review of the governance of NMC Ltd. The members of the Conference Design Committee have been appointed by the Board of Directors, and are responsible for designing NMC2019, and populating the conference program.

WELCOME TO

Australia's Capital

The National Mediation Conference 2019 (NMC2019) will be held in Canberra in the delightfully crisp month of April. This great city is home to national attractions, museums, galleries, parks and nature reserves, as well as a fantastic dining scene.

The National Convention Centre

The multi-awarded National Convention Centre (NCC) is Canberra's leading, purpose-built meeting and events venue. With a collection of 15 spaces over two floors, the Centre features a compact and logical design with abundant natural light taking advantage of Canberra's clear skies and sunlight.

Located in the heart of the Central Business District, the NCC is a short 7km drive from the airport and easily accessible by car, taxi and public transport. The NCC is walking distance to Canberra's largest shopping precinct, restaurants and bars, and easy access to Canberra's national treasures, including the Parliament House of Australia.

Who Will Attend NMC2019?

NMC last convened on the Gold Coast in 2016, where over 500 delegates attended the conference. Previous NMCs have attained similar delegate numbers, and we anticipate that NMC2019 will be no different. A conservative estimate is that more than 400 delegates will attend from across Australia, including leaders from the field of dispute resolution, and:

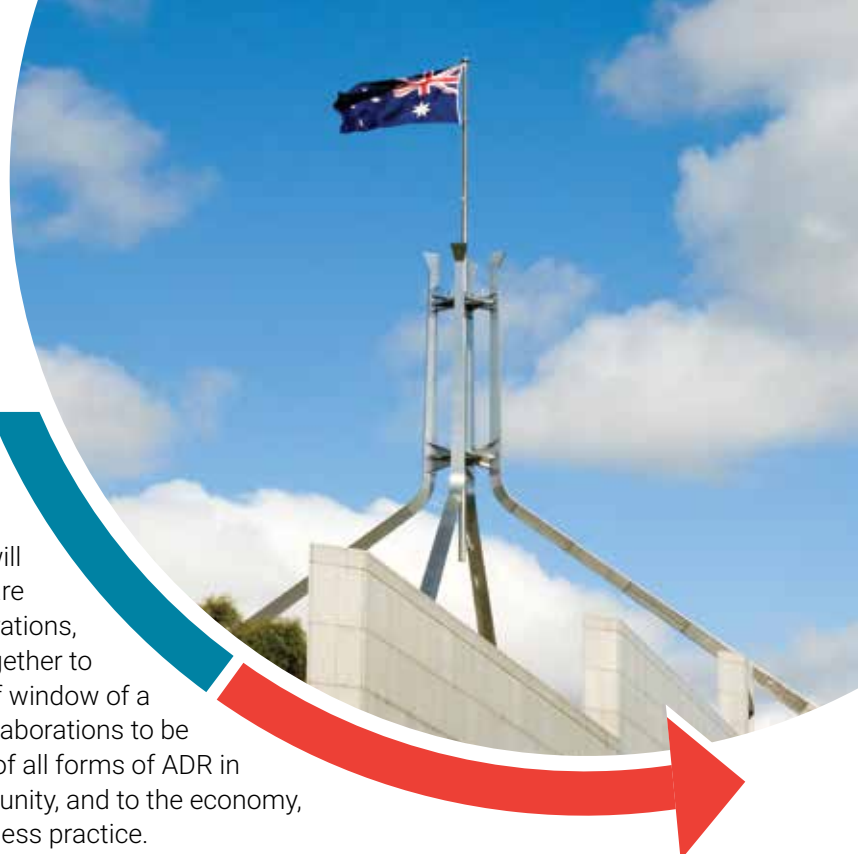

- + Mediators, conciliators, DR practitioners, conflict managers, and conflict coaches
- + Ombudsmen, and government officers
- + Judicial officers, and legal practitioners
- + Academics, researchers, and educators
- + Behavioural scientists, psychologists, and counsellors
- + Managers, supervisors, and union officials
- + Professionals and representatives of a range of private sector service providers
- + Construction and business representatives
- + Human resource professionals

NMC enjoys consistently high credibility and is accepted as a landmark event in the mediation and ADR fields.

NCM2019

Collaborators and Sponsors

Until now, NMC has relied on one-off sponsorships to underpin the successful operation of the conferences, and, in 2019, we will maintain these. However, for the first time, we are looking to create additional longer-term collaborations, in which NMC and its collaborators will work together to promote ADR more broadly than during the brief window of a three-day biennial conference. We envisage collaborations to be with bodies and agencies who see the practice of all forms of ADR in all areas as a huge benefit to the broader community, and to the economy, as well as being a key component of good business practice.

Obviously, collaborators would achieve prominence during NMC in 2019, but they would also be expected to carry over into future conferences, as well as into additional NMC activities which are currently being explored. For example, in the past, NMC has limited itself to convening biennial conferences. We are keen to expand NMC's role in the sector, and to trial the convening of occasional one-day specialist symposiums under the NMC logo between 2019 and the next scheduled NMC in 2021. We would value the involvement of collaborators in these symposiums. Although such joint involvement would include financial support, it could also include "in-kind" provision of services, and combinations of both. In keeping with the concept of "ongoing collaborations", we are open to ideas from prospective collaborators.

The combination of the high profile biennial NMC and the specialist symposiums provides significant opportunities for collaborator exposure. Through collaborating with us, you will have the opportunity to:

- + Promote your name and launch new products to support your brand and generate media interest
- + Maintain a high profile within the mediation and ADR field, before, during and after the conference, raising your organisation's profile and acknowledging it as one of the field's champions
- + Demonstrate your organisation's commitment and support of NMC and its aims
- + Network with peers, reinforce relationships with existing clients, develop new contacts and target new recruits
- + Discover the current trends and challenges in the field of ADR, be they trends and challenges for practitioners, for researchers, for policy-makers, or for clients of ADR

NMC2019 will have an active electronic presence, offering unique opportunities to increase your organisation's exposure through the following avenues:

- + E-marketing: regular emails promoting the conference program, key dates, high level collaborators and speakers
- + Website: as the primary information distribution channel, the website will be regularly updated and will include a comprehensive list of all collaborators and exhibitors plus links to their individual websites
- + Conference App: used by conference attendees to create personalised programs and locate exhibitors

Please contact Conference Logistics in the first instance if you would be interested in discussing an ongoing collaboration with NMC.

Collaboration and Sponsorship Opportunities

On this and the following pages we include details of our collaboration, sponsorship, and exhibition opportunities. Some of the below-listed items are labelled as either “Collaborator” or “Sponsor” opportunities; this does not prevent potential NMC collaborators from offering to provide sponsorship funding for specific conference items. In some circumstances, consideration can also be given to collaboration packages that concentrate on significant “in-kind” reciprocal relationships. Should you have a unique idea for supporting NMC, please contact Conference Logistics to discuss a customised package.

We would also welcome the opportunity to discuss longer-range collaboration opportunities with you, continuing throughout and past the conference conclusion. For example, NMC is considering the convening of occasional one-day specialist symposiums between the biennial conferences; collaboration could include joining with us in designing and convening these events. Joint naming of such events is also a possibility. Please contact Conference Logistics if you would be interested in discussing such possible collaborations.

If you or your organisation have a promotional event you would like to include in the conference (e.g. a book launch), please contact Conference Logistics.

*The NMC2019 Conference Design Committee prefers that support of key conference events be offered, in the first instance, to potential NMC collaborators.

The NMC Committee anticipates that support of one or more Key Note speakers would include such items as travel and accommodation costs; arrangements would be made for relevant NMC collaborators to gain priority access to supported Key Note speakers after the conclusion of the conference.

In keeping with NMC’s commitment to a dynamic, stimulating event, specific conference sessions will be open to sponsorship; each session will include sponsor signage and acknowledgement. Those interested in these sponsorship opportunities can discuss their preferences and interests with Conference Logistics.

This is a specific area of sponsorship that assists NMC2019 attendance by key ADR figures, including practitioners and practitioner groups. The Conference Committee anticipates significant public exposure for sponsors in this area, as specialist delegates, perhaps from regional locations, are provided valuable opportunities to participate in this landmark conference. Sponsorship is likely to cover the costs of travel, accommodation, and conference registration. Please contact Conference Logistics if you are interested in this option so that we may tailor your sponsorship benefits to your sponsorship amount.

PROMOTIONAL SPONSORS

In 2019, the NMC will be demonstrating its commitment to sustainability and environmental responsibility. To this end, a Keepcup, and water bottle will each be available for delegates; each item will bear an NMC2019 logo and the logo of the relevant sponsor. Potential NMC collaborators might want to consider any of the below-listed promotional items as a concrete demonstration of their support for NMC.
